THE DITY OF HOOL.

If we of the Pacific states and territories have anything whatever to gain through a protective tariff, we certainly must look first to the wood miscest, since wool is almost the sole projuct of our industry to be affected by foreign competi-tion. It may be supposed that the wool product of the Pacific. Northwest, this year will reach of the Pacillo Northwest this pur will reach fitteen unilion pounds and if we include all thregon, Washington and Idaho, together with the portion of Monama that has within the Countils free basis, it may reach twenty mill in pounds or more. This is about me-fitteenth part of all the work produced in the United States. J. R. Finig., statistician of the agricultural bureau at Wielington, estimates the total countries that more its first way to the production.

clip of last year at 08 000, 000 point is A proposition is now before congress to put wool on the fire. This tree less alruma using all the wool growers, and brings remonstrance from them there exist would growers, in common with these I the their parts of the country, feel that this free trade proposition is a serious menure to a great interest, they believe that if wool is put on the free his time price of wood in our markets will be greatly reduced by importetions from other countries and that in fact this great and valual is follustry will receive a severe check, if it is not destroyed altogether.

It would be idle to assort that this opinion is wholly unfounded. No free-trader can couwhich any this, because his main argument against protection is that a protective duty at wars cohences the price of the commodity and that the in fact is the object. The wool-grower accepts this argument when he objects to removal of the duly, on the ground that under free importation of wool he would be compelled to accept tower prices. But on one side or the other, or on both, there is much mistake Exsmination of statistics proves this. During the last forty years the tariff on wool has fluctuated eatly, and yet the market values do not see n bave been affected by the tariff at all

This, indeed, may be denied, but the figures collected by the bureau of statistics go far to prove it I sing these figures, Mr Rowland Hazard, of Khous Island, a woolen manufacturer having the highest qualifications of experience, intelligence, education and observation, for his cussing the subject, has sought the effects of tariff on both the preducer and the rithin facturer of wools, his investigations extending over a period of thirty seven years. I rom 1817 to 1857 there was a duty on foreign wools equal to 30 per cent, advalorem standard, 1957-bl. all wools but expensive grades free of luly 1504-64, low grades 5, medium to, high 20 per cent, luty 1864-7, 25 to 30 per cent., 1867-12, no to no per cent. 1872-88, 45 to 55 per cent. The variation m each period depending on the quality of wools. Looking at the average makel prices for each year since 1847, it is impossible to dis cover that the price has been in any way in inenced by the amount of truff futy highest prite was 5) cents jet point, 1873, which is duty was 1 to percent, the lowes prite, 1873, when the duty was proceed, the same while from 18 to 18 i win 5 cents here to have a first here is a wind by the first each citizen. har ced is the an ount of the tax and this argument with the worigrower agminst always pre-vals. Hence the flock masters of the courtry with always be found apposing with great on a mitty and excuestness a proposition to a limit wool free of duty, and in this they will have the sucried of manufacturers of all the column in inties of woolen goods while those manufacturers who produce cloths of higher grades, and therefore want to import finer wools to mix with the more common domestic fiseces, will generally take the opposite view. Every inter-ested person studies such a topic with a view to proming of his own interest. But in dealing with these complicated questions there is great hall by on the part of every man to mis-

But the proposition will be holy opposed, for the aristogramy class of England will see in it a suggestion and menace to their own interests Settlement of the land question in Ireland will rouse an ither and greater land question in England.

AS 10 THE TAXING OF 11 LEGEAPH COMPANIES.

In the bill reported by the assessment com-mission it is provided that telegraph companies shall be taxed upon their infleage of wira, while reduced express and other corporations are to be taxed upon their gross receipts. It is asked juite naturally why tolegraph companies asked juite naturally why tolograph companies should be fixed under one system and radir (id companies under another. From a superficial tiew round appear that the business of these companies as similar in character and transacted in pre by much the earne way ami that a system adapted to one would equally fit the other. All this seems reasonable, but it has been found its other states that in the matter of taxation, this graph companies are very much in me difficult to dear with their corporations. I now the pecular nature of their bisiness thay aris ablet conceal or indiscipresent it and so a valid taxation. These, no death, were the considerations which caused the assessment commission to make an except in from their general plan. to make an except in from their general plus in the matter of telegraph companies. It was their parameter of telegraph companies. It was their parameter (as to avoid anything novel of doubt of the states, and in this matter, as in others, followed systems and methods which have been tried and found practically. The difficulty in taxing to legislate companies upon their grees receipts, grows chiefly out of the fred that their organization is outside of the rate. Their system makes their or called local state. Their system makes their so called local state. Their system makes their so called local managers ecarcely more than executive clerks with little representative character and no responsibility so far as courts are concerned it has been found difficult always and of sit times impossible for slate courts to make relegiaph companies show their business. Be sides, it as very hard thing to determine the amount of telegraph carriage within a state and if it is were determined it would be harder still to attortion its value. These things, in thêmto at portion its value. These things, in themse was problems of calculation, become unpossibe practically in the case of corporations whose management besides being foreign and distant is distosed to a close and grasping policy. If, for example, it were proposed to tax the West-ern Union on its gross receipts within the state, it would be possible for that company to reduce its moone apparently to the small amount of its lo at business. This could be accomplished early by making a rule that all Oregon business originating outside the state should be prepaid and that all general business originating in O e-gon should be charged to the place of lectua to non-made payable there. A little attention of system would out receipts here down to noth-

In view of these considerations, it has been proposed to tay telegraph companies apon miles of wire. This is the practice in Indiana, from whose laws the rice is horrowed. It mus profested by the company but stool the test of the courts, on er a constitutional me vision identical with our own.
